SUBMARINE DISASTER.

LOSS OF THE "L 24"

SUNK WITH ALL HANDS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, January 10.
An Admiralty message says that the submarine "L 24" was lost off Portland, it is feared with all hands.

COLLIDED WITH BATTLESHIP.

LATER.
The "L 24," which had a crew of thirty, collided with the battleship "Resolution" off Portland Bill.

LATER.
It appears that "L 24" was exercising with the Atlantic fleet which left Portland in the morning for a three months' cruise and manoeuvres. The cause of the accident is so far unknown.

SALVAGE OPERATIONS.

LATER.
A lighter specially adapted to raise submarines is being rushed to the spot to try and salvage the "L 24." The latter is a modern vessel and one of the thirty-two submarines laid down between 1917 and 1922. The disaster occurred in a fog after the vessels of the Atlantic fleet had opened into the channel at the beginning of their Spring cruise.

STINNES INTERVIEWED.

THE ALTERNATIVE.

PARIS, January 10.
Interviewed by the Journal des Débats Herr Stinnes said the Ruhr industrialists agreed to pay reparations for the Reich until April 15 after which they could not continue. He outlined the scheme of deliveries in kind as a subsequent form of settlement and advocated that the Reich pay German Mines and factories for deliveries under long term contracts to allied industrialists who would pay the respective governments therefor, such payments to be written down to reparations account the Reich to ensure repayment to industrialists by allocation of revenue from certain taxes. He was optimistic of a solution of all difficulties if the plan was adopted. The alternative to a sound Franco-German agreement was war.

SHIPPING DIFFICULTIES.

"MAJESTIC" CAPTAIN'S COMMENT.

NEW YORK, January 10.
Sir Bertram Hayes, Captain of the "Majestic," commented on the recent grounding of the "Leviathan" agreed with the testimony of Captain Hartley of the "Leviathan" before the Commission of Enquiry, that the stranding of the "Leviathan" was due to the narrowness and tortuousness of the channel and erratic tides. He said the channel had too little water for such an unwieldy craft as the "Majestic" and "Leviathan." "It is terrible to have to wind one's way up the bay against winds, tides, and currents, and continually dodge small craft which dart across steamers' path unrestrictedly." — Reuter's American Service.

NEW YORK SOCIETY SENSATION.

SOCONY HEIRESS TO WED AUSTRIAN COUNT.

NEW YORK, January 10.
Society has been surprised at the newspaper announcement of the marriage of Millicent, the twenty year-old daughter of Colonel Huddleston Rogers, heiress to the forty-million dollar estate which her father inherited from the Standard Oil magnate Rogers, to the forty-year-old Austrian tennis player Count Ludwigsalm Von Hoogstraten. The bride's parents, on learning of the marriage, cancelled the passages of themselves and their daughter to Europe on January 12. — Reuter's American Service.

GERMANS FURIOUS.

BERLIN, January 10.
Germany is practically depending upon London and Paris for news presumably as a result of the Spayer Affair. The Separatists have established a strict censorship and it is known that they arrived with a number of prominent Germans at the Palatinate as hostages. The newspapers comment furiously that the French are supporting the Separatists and point out that the Bavarian Government issued a warrant against Dr. Heinz for high treason.

MOVIE FILMS BURNED.

FIRE AT WEST POINT.

Believed to have broken out last night in the first floor of No. 13A, Hill Road, occupied by a Chinese cinema proprietor, a fire spread to Nos. 45 and 47, Pokfulam Road, two houses directly to the back and separated by a rear-jane. The latter buildings face the western side of the University Main Hall and are quite close to the two medical schools outside the grounds. Unsheltered by any property in front, the breeze kept the flames fanned with the result that No. 13A was gutted and damage was done by both fire and water to the houses at the rear. A quantity of cinema films, said to number several hundred were burnt out. The damage has not been assessed yet but none of the property in the houses was insured. It is believed that the houses themselves are covered by insurance.

At about 9 p.m. the alarm was raised. Kennedy Town sub-station sent one engine and three others arrived from Central in the charge of Superintendent Brooks and Station Officer Moat. In an hour the initial danger of the fire

CHINESE INDUSTRIAL MISSION.

VISIT TO BOARD OF TRADE.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, January 10.

In the course of a prolonged visit Ching Chien and his fellow missionaries discussed the object of their mission at the Board of Trade where they were received by Sir Sydney Chapman and Overseas Trade Department representatives. The missionaries were entertained at a private luncheon by the Federation of British Industries, Colonel Armstrong, the Chairman, presiding over a gathering including Mr. Godfrey Isaacs and representatives of Avelings, Firths, the Cottonspinners' Association and other important industrials. Chang Chien responding briefly to the toast of the guests, emphasised that while the object of the mission was to acquire information, this was in no way contrary to the interests of foreign manufacturers trading with China. He contended that China would be unable to increase her purchases substantially and rapidly so long as her ability to pay therefor remained undeveloped. On the other hand the development of China's vast natural resources would mean a new era of prosperity for other nations. The British industrials had a reputation for fearlessness in facing competition and he did not doubt that despite competition, these would be amongst the first to contribute to and benefit from the industrial development of China. The mission visits Rochester tomorrow and thence it proceeds to Sheffield, Manchester, Birmingham and other industrial centres.

"LITTLE ENTENTE" POWERS.

CONFERENCE AT BELGRADE.

LONDON, January 10.
The conference of the "Little Entente" powers which opened at Belgrade to-day, is attracting much attention as it is likely to illustrate new groupings, further complicating the European problem. The chief subjects on the agenda are the financial reform of Hungary, recognition of Russia and the Franco-Szeczo-Slovak treaty but that French policy will dominate the proceedings is apparent from an article in the inspired Belgrade newspaper Vreme which says that the first question for consideration will be the renewal of the treaty with France which is destined to become the axis of continental politics. It adds that the introduction of Russia into European politics comes next. It is noteworthy in this connection that it is announced in London that the British Government has hitherto received no answer to its enquiry in reference to war debts but expects the conference to formulate a joint reply thereto.

BAVARIAN PRESIDENT'S ASSASSINATION.

HOW THE DEED WAS DONE.

MAYENCE, January 10.
An eye-witness of the assassination of Dr. Heinz, President of the Bavarian Separatist Government, says that Dr. Heinz, accompanied by a few friends sat down to dinner at the hotel where he was staying. Half an hour later three youths entered and asked for Dr. Heinz and were conducted to the restaurant. One darted behind Dr. Heinz's chair and fired repeatedly point-blank at his head, Dr. Heinz falling dead. The murderer continued firing wildly, mortally wounding a friend of Dr. Heinz. The murderer eventually, with his companions all firing, walked out and escaped, after mortally wounding two passers-by in the street and less seriously wounding a number of others.

GREEK POLITICS.

INTENTIONS OF M. VENIZELOS.

ATHENS, January 10.
M. Venizelos stated that he would assume the Foreign portfolio with a view to re-establishing cordial relations with the foreign powers. He will personally superintend the organisation of a plebiscite on the question of a change on the constitution.

THREE SPEECHES.

William Pearl in his Fruits of Solitude remarks that the end of speech is to be understood. Having read carefully, word by word, the three speeches delivered at Wednesday's degree ceremony at the University we can say without hesitation that the speakers there achieved the most desirable end of being understood. The speeches though big in quantity, are more so in quality and rank with some of the best we have read. Having in view the occasion of their delivery—the presentation of honorary degrees to those deemed worthy to receive them, and the element of stock-taking that we must expect from the head of a young University, it is to be expected that length must over be an accepted fact with regard to orations delivered on these very auspicious occasions. Apart from the speeches and that they were very acceptable may be judged by the punctuation of them with bursts of applause by those who attended the ceremony—the degrees conferred upon Mr. Preoce and Mr. S. W. Tso will give general satisfaction. Some may cavil at the today which has taken place in securing these honours, especially now that the extent of the ing to advance its cause for the sheer love of doing so. Mr. Preoce is a typical example. He adds to his many benefactions a speech that rings peculiarly true—peculiarly British—whose message is learn, learn, and again learn. We may well leave it at that.

The Vice-Chancellor's own sang—for that is what it evidently is, we do not propose to examine in detail. It was worthy the man and worthy the occasion. Honest in purpose with no ambiguity in any of its parts, it ranks amongst the few great speeches which have been delivered here. Sir William Brunyate has some small satisfaction in being able to hand over his charge with its lustre undimmed—may a little brighter we venture to think. The future still has its difficulties, but Sir William has worked in yeoman-like fashion to make them less formidable than they otherwise would be.

We trust that it will be deemed worthy to have the three speeches we have so briefly commented upon, published in pamphlet form. They should not be lost in the columns of newspapers or the archives of the Bonham Road establishment.

Why Not?

The showing of films at the Coronet Theatre depicting the training of Chinese Policemen, is on a par with the recent display of educational films—a piece of enterprise that must be commended and demonstrating anew the practical aspect of its amusement side, of the cinema industry. It is capable of enlargement in many directions. One that we think of at the moment is in connection with the Education Dept., which, it is alleged is grappling with the question of understaffing. Teachers' will not come we are told. Well then, have a film made of a teacher's life in Hongkong, and sent home for display. There are difficulties in the way we admit. The trouble will be what to include and what to leave out. Unquestionably the first thing will be to show teacher in receipt of his or her monthly cheque, with a close-up showing the gratified smile on the face of the teacher. Then a distant view of the Peak might be given to show what the would-be educationist could look forward to. Or finding one of the house—with furniture,—that a grateful and severely economic government provides for married teachers. By all means add views of Japan as the place where summer holidays can be spent and a view of the various Club houses which are to be found here, including the lounge of the Hotel and a view of the grill room, and of course Ilepingpun Bay. Other scenes could doubtless be included, and with the letter press—if that is what it is called—carefully worded, the supply of teachers would easily exceed the demand. There are at least two things that should be excluded from this proposed film; one is a view of the outside of the Saikyungpun School building, and the other is the Education Board in session, with someone or other making a speech on education.

We wonder how CHARIVARI. many parents have had Christmas drummed into them.

They may be raising Queen's Road higher but we should like to point out that they are also raising our ire!

Captain Robert Dollar urges me to get a move on. He must have been taken along Queen's Road.

The rumour that the members of the Education Board have resigned is denied. They've not been educated to that step yet.

Some revellers we wot of, remind us of the High Cost of Low Living.

"It is not impossible," says The Evening News, "that Miss Megan Lloyd George will write a book upon her impressions of America." No, but it ought to be.

Should Married Men write to Former Sweethearts? is the question put by a contemporary. You may take it from us that the answer is "Not if they give their home address."

Mr. Will Irwin, Tur Boton, retained by Collier's Soot, magazine to direct a campaign for world peace through the columns of that periodical, made a study of the League of Nations. He found faults—many of them. He detected shortcomings and did not hesitate to enumerate them. But he concludes that, in regard to the League, if "we Americans are to approach the subject with any spirit of truth, we must recant ourselves." Call the League "did its opposite in 1919," a dangerous superstate, aimed

Mr. Preoce gravely contends that he is not in "educated" man—only an engineer. He is evidently none the worse for that. An enthusiast obviously, a man who has found his work in happy in it and is therefore counted among the blessed. The University seems to have been fortunate to the plus degree in securing the services of men will at the blood-bought independence of these United States, and you are talking mere nonsense. It has so far failed to perform any superciumtions.

The fact remains, however, that the League is now the one bright spot in a mad and tortured Europe—the single political nucleus of sanity and good will. Weak it may be; yet every year since its foundation has seen it stronger. After only four years of existence, it is so firmly fixed in the international structure that if it did not exist, Europe would be obliged to create it."

E. A. Brooks, a wealthy Farmer, South Australian rancher, showed that he had the courage of his convictions regarding the future of Western Australia when he purchased recently close on 1,000,000 acres in the Murchison district. On his return from a trip through this State, he said that he was of the opinion that within another fifteen or twenty years it would be carrying more than 20,000,000 sheep and would be growing some of the best wool in Australia. From other indications, also, it would seem that Western Australia is looming large as an important factor in the future of the Commonwealth.

The greatest mystery

THE GREAT MYSTERY. Who has not sought to sound its unspeakable depths?

Who has not felt its all-compelling power? Who has not surrendered to its irresistible force?

Love is the dream of the poet, the puzzle of the philosopher, the theme of the novelist, and the song of the minstrel. Love links all the human rays. From other indications, also, it would seem that Western Australia is looming large as an important factor in the future of the Commonwealth.

KOWLOON FLAT.

OWNER SUES OCCUPIER.
INTERESTING RENTS PROBLEM SOLVED.

Judgment was given in the Supreme Court by the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Komperz) to-day in the case in which Mr. Robert Arthur Clarke, a clerk in the Naval Yard, was sued by Chan Shun-sze, owner of the flat at No. 33 Nathan Road where Mr. Clarke resides, for possession under the Rents Ordinance.

At the hearing last month the plaintiff was represented by Mr. M. Watson and Mr. F. G. Vaux appeared for the defence. Mr. Watson explained that the flat was originally let to a Mr. Bolderson. A week or two before the hearing judgment was obtained against the latter on the ground that he had not paid his rent for several months. Mr. Clarke claimed to be sub-tenant of Bolderson but the plaintiff's contention was that Mr. Clarke was not a tenant but a caretaker and, alternatively, that if he was a tenant he was not protected at law by the Rents Ordinance. The tenancy of Bolderson having been determined the tenancy of the defendant was, Mr. Watson argued, pro fact determined with it.

The defendant, in the witness box, said that he heard that the flat was vacant from a newspaper advertisement. He then got into touch with the tenant, Mr. Bolderson, with whom he arranged to take over the flat after buying the furniture and fittings for $400. When he went in on September 23 he made inquiries and was informed that the rent for September had not been paid. He then obtained a sum of $70 from Mr. Bolderson. When handing over the keys Mrs. Bolderson said her husband owed two months' rent, which he would send to the landlord.

The defendant asserted that he took over the flat only on the condition that he became a sub-tenant of Mr. Bolderson though he admitted, when questioned on the point by Mr. Watson, that his letter was "somewhat misleading." He had never, he said, paid any rent to Bolderson.

His Honour's Decision.

In the course of his judgment this morning His Honour said it was impossible to support the view that Clarke was a caretaker. "It is absurd," the Puisne Judge proceeded to point out, "to say that a man who has made himself responsible for the full monthly rental and has paid a substantial sum for the furniture and fittings is a mere caretaker. Then he is the protection of the Rents Ordinance. If he has not it is clear that plaintiff is entitled to possession."

After discussing a number of legal authorities, including several which Mr. Watson had quoted during his argument, His Honour said that, generally speaking, the general object of the law was the protection of the man in actual occupation and in the case before him the defendant clearly was a tenant in actual occupation.

"No doubt, a very wary man," remarked the Judge in conclusion, "would not have concluded his bargain until he had seen the rent receipts. But there was nothing to put Clarke on inquiry; he trusted Bolderson, it is true—but so did the landlord, who allowed him to be four months in arrears with his rent. In my opinion—when the order for possession was made against Bolderson and he dropped out then Clarke's relation to the landlord became that of statutory tenant under the Ordinance. There must be judgment for the defendant with costs."

BANK MERGER.

MANAGERS INTERVIEWED.

The absorption of the Asia Banking Corporation by the International Banking Corporation briefly reported in to-day's papers, was confirmed by managers of both banks when seen by a China Mail representative this morning.

An agreement has been reached, we understand, whereby the International Bank will take over all the assets and business of the Asia Banking Corporation which at the completion of the negotiations will cease to exist.

This merger, Mr. Hogg, the International Bank manager, told our representative, will be helpful to all American banking institutions in the Far East. Subsequent announcements will be made as to the business arrangement, he said.

The deal is subject to the approval of the stockholders and a special meeting has been called to expedite the sale, after which further detailed information will be available.

Mr. D. M. Biggar, manager of the Asia Bank informed us that it is expected that the process of transition will be completed by Aug. 31 this year, when the International Bank will start on its new arrangement.

A Reuter message received to-day from Shanghai stated: "It is announced that Asia Bank, the Asia Bank has signed into an agreement for the sale of its assets and business to the International

YAU-MATI SCHOOL
DEVELOPMENT OF DISTRICT.

One of the popular features at the distribution of prizes at Yau-mati School this morning was the granting of a half-holiday to the students by Hon. Mr. E. Irving, Director of Education. Mrs. G. F. de Martin, wife of the former headmaster, was given a bouquet by the enthusiastic scholars after she had given out the prizes and in response, her request that the students be granted a holiday, was loudly cheered.

Father Valerio, a member of the Board of Education was an interested visitor.

Mr. G. E. Edwards, the headmaster, in his annual report stated that the school was opened on 220 days during the year, the minimum enrolment was 271 and the average attendance 246. Last year the average was 260.

The attendance had been good, but they were still too many cases of boys being kept away from school on account of family affairs. It had only been possible to admit a few of the many boys who had applied for admission. The district was developing so rapidly that a school, much larger than the existing one was needed.

The discipline had been excellent. The boys were well mannered and easily controlled. The prefects rendered useful assistance in the maintenance of order.

The health of the school had been good, went on Mr. Edwards. As regards the studies, 234 boys took the Annual Examination in November and 210 passed. The results taken as a whole were good except in Class 7c. In this class 11 boys failed out of 25 presented, and of those, 6 failed in English, 3 in Chinese and 2 in both English and Chinese.

At the Entrance Examination to Queen's College 12 boys passed out of 15 presented. The standard for a pass was raised from 60 to 70 per cent. The examination revealed weakness in Collegium, Dictation and Composition, the results in the other subjects were good.

In athletics inter-class football and volleyball competitions were held after the summer holidays and created a great deal of interest. Swimming parties went out regularly during the summer months and about 40 non-swimmers took lessons at classes, held at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Sung On-wing had rendered valuable assistance as sportsmaster and the school was assisted by Mr. So Tsi-keung.

The library, continued the headmaster, now contained 200 English and 800 Chinese books and had been much used by the boys.

"In conclusion" said Mr. Edwards, "I wish to thank Mrs. de Martin for kindly coming here to-day to distribute the prizes and also members of the staff for their support and co-operation during the year. (Cheers.)

ANNUAL SPORTS MEETING

ACCIDENT TO COMPETITOR.

Except for a regrettable accident to one of the competitors, the first annual athletic sports of the Central British School were held with entire success yesterday afternoon at the Kowloon Cricket Club's ground. The casualty was Master W. King, who, after winning the junior High Jump, fell during an exhibition performance and apparently dislocated his right elbow. First aid was rendered by the sports officials pending the arrival of Dr. Wong, and he was later removed to hospital in the motor ambulance.

The events were kindly contested and in conjunction with the prizes a new scheme was introduced. No prizes were given for second and third places and to encourage the children to strive for general efficiency, a new arrangement of awarding prize to first winners only was initiated which produced very satisfactory results. The boys competed in groups representing the Nathan, Luard and May Houses, while the girls represented the Bede, St. George's and St. Dunstan's Houses.

At the end of the sports Lady Severn distributed the prizes at the club house. Before the presentation the Headmaster, Mr. G. F. Nightingale, said this was the first annual sports meeting of the Central British School. The children did not compete as individuals, but as members of different Houses, each striving for the honour of his or her particular group. The competitors all realised that on him or her depended the success of their Houses, and had shown a keen spirit of rivalry. When the question of holding the sports was discussed, said Mr. Nightingale, the older children suggested that no prizes be given and that sufficient reward would be yielded by the knowledge that they had done something for their Houses. It was, however, decided to give small silver cups for championship events to serve as an everlasting record of their services rendered to the Houses. Mr. Nightingale concluded by thanking all who had assisted to make the sports a success.

After giving away the prizes Lady Severn was presented with a bouquet by little Miss Wylie.

The announcement was made by the Headmaster before the gathering dispersed, that Mr. E. Ralphs had promised the School a shield so that the achievements of the different Houses can be recorded.

The following were the results:

Boys' 100 yards (senior): I. G. Bond, Junior: I. T. Whitley.

Girls' 100 yards (senior): I. M. Phyllis Wooley, Junior: I. E. Stewart.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THE R.E.'S RECORD TO DATE.

Last week's league statistics did not include a second division match played at Happy Valley on December 15, in which the Royal Engineers defeated the H.K.C.C. 2nd XI. This was down in the fixtures, originally, as a friendly, but on the ground, it was decided to make it a league game, as one earlier in the season, had to be postponed on account of the pitch.

Including this game, the junior league leaders have played off eleven of their sixteen fixtures and their position is highly satisfactory in view of the fact that they have practically the same team as last season. This year they have not had the services of Lieut. Hammond and Captain Wahl. After playing in six matches, Sergeant Redpath has gone home. He was not called up to do very much bowling last season, but made two or three big leg-side scores, although inconsistent. His all-round improvement this season, has meant a lot to the Sappers. Two players who have rendered yeoman service to the team this season are Major Gandy, who has the biggest aggregate in the division, and Q.M.S. Jacob, who tops the bowling averages with the second highest number of wickets although he has only played in seven matches. Sergeant Cockell, who arrived towards the end of last season, has fallen off in recent matches, after doing well with both bat and ball, and Captain Chippendall has also strengthened the batting. Redpath's going home has meant a good deal although Jacob has more than made up for his absence from the attack. The batting, however, is not all that could be wished for. The tail has seldom "wagged." When called upon for an effort, but there is one relieving feature which is the improvement shown in the last three matches by G. S. M. Smith, S. S. Brown and Q. M. S. Ramsey.

As to their record in detail, one finds that they have met all the other teams in the junior league at least once. The Chinese and University juniors have twice been beaten easily. On their own ground, the Indian 2nd XI lost by 47 runs early in the season, and at Happy Valley the Indians had slightly the better of a draw. Civil Service 2nd XI lost by 50 runs. Kowloon juniors gave the leaders a fright, getting them out for small score but losing, in the end, by 37 runs, and the R. A. M. C. lost by a similar margin. The Club 2nd XI missed the points by only 32 runs and the Navy second team won by 22 runs. From this it will be seen that only the two weaker teams allowed the Sappers to pile on runs with ease whereas the other losers did fairly well against the leaders.

The biggest score made by the Engineers this season is 182 in their first match at Soakumpo after the Indians had scored 135. They made 164 for 3 wickets and 149 all out against the Varsity and 170 for 3 in the return match with the Chinese but on these occasions, most of the runs were not required. Coming further down the list, they made 144 against the Civil Service, 121 for 7 against the C.R.C. and 100 against the H.K.C.C. 2nd XI. On the military ground the Indian juniors knocked up the biggest score against the leaders, 179 for 8 and the Sappers replied with 120 for 6. On other occasions when they batted first, they only knocked up 95 against the Medicines, 76 against the Navy and 69 against Kowloon. The only other three-figure score against the R.E.'s was 135, made by the Indians in their first match. From this it will be seen that the attack has done exceedingly well, but the batting has sometimes given cause for alarm. As the Navy 2nd XI, who have won all their engagements to date, are also strong in bowling, there is every chance of their running the Sappers closely for the championship of the division. The senior service has, however, to play eleven more fixtures and there may be a time when their best team is not available.

There were no surprises in the five matches played last Saturday, the best one of which was the one in which Kowloon seconds lost to the Indians after what promised to be a good fight. The winners declared with five wickets down for 153, and when Kowloon had the same number of wickets down, the 100 had been sent up. It seemed that they might beat their visitors' score in a race against time but the latter batsmen failed badly.

Below will be found the league statistics to date. If naval or military fixtures have been omitted, I shall be obliged if the respective secretaries or skippers will let me have the missing results.

A. A. Rumjahn has passed G. R. More's aggregate although he has lost second position in the senior batting list. Pomfret (Navy) drops out of the junior bowling averages as he has not played in half his team's engagements but his name appears in the senior list as he bowled in two of the first division matches. Players who figure in both divisions have separate records.

CHINESE "CHOP" QUERIES

WAS IT BINDING?
AN IMPORTANT RULING.

An important judgment concerning the validity of Chinese firm "chops" was delivered by the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Gompertz) in the Summary Court to-day. The parties in the case were Chiu Shan-nam (plaintiff) and the Wing Cheong Lung firm of paper merchants (defendants).

His Honour had been asked to give a ruling on an agreed statement of facts.

Mr. Justice Gompertz said: "The plaintiff claims $1,000 on a promissory note bearing the chop of the defendant firm. The firm consists of two partners—one dormant and the other exercising slight supervision only. Wu Ching-lan, a shareholder but not a partner, was the manager and did the buying and selling and with the fullest powers carried on the business. In March, 1922, the plaintiff advanced $1,000 to Wu, who stated it to be for the use of the firm. The money was paid on the firm's premises and a promissory note bearing the ordinary and regular chop of the firm was affixed by Wu. The money was not in fact applied to the purposes of the firm but was retained by Wu for his own use. The partners had no knowledge of the transaction. There is no evidence that the firm has ever borrowed money. I have to decide whether the firm is liable."

"The question is partly one of agency. In English law it is well settled that the manager of a business has no implied authority to borrow money. It is pointed out that borrowing money is not part of the ordinary business of paper merchants but it is common knowledge on the other hand that local Chinese firms very frequently raise money by loan for the purposes of the business. To my mind, the whole question of liability turns on the matter of the chop. Wu was the manager, having practically the entire conduct of the business. He was entrusted with the general chop which, I think, by local custom, confers very wide and general powers upon the holder."

"In my opinion," concluded His Honour, "the firm had held out Wu as their general agent for all reasonable business purposes, which would include the raising of money by loan, and I think therefore they are estopped from denying his authority to borrow. There must be judgment for the plaintiff with costs."

At the hearing Mr. Layman appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. C. A. S. Russ for the defence.

THEATRE STARS.

TWO SWORDS.

Two stars in the Cantonese theatrical world were the defendants before Mr. C. D. Melbourne this morning on charge of possession of two nickel-plated swords.

One of them is the most popular matinee idol of Hong Kong audiences, having distinct womanish features. He is the leading "lady" in the troupe now performing at the Tai Ping theatre, being known by the stage name of Sun Ding Hsing. Yew and he claimed the ownership. He had taken the weapons to the Nanking boarding house to obtain tuition in a spectacular Northern sword display from another star who goes by the stage name of Sai Guy, and who takes the refined role of a scholar. It appears that Senior Revenue Officer Watt happened to go to the same place where master and pupil were welding the swords before an admiring audience.

His Worship recorded a conviction but in view of the circumstances, did not impose a fine; the actors were ordered to sign a personal bond of $100 for six months.

COMMERCIAL NOTES.

TRADE QUOTATIONS.

Rice.—A hat has been called in the general upward tendency noticeable during the last fortnight. This morning's quotations show no change from those of yesterday.

Flour.—Market very quiet on account of large stocks in speculators' hands and their inability to liquidate same because of the political cutback and the threatened Canton embargo on silver coin export. Prices unchanged.

San's tea-house in the Kowloon City district and had been driven to Mr. Tsang Foo's villa, a journey which just exceeds the five-cent rate.

Additional charges of assaulting one of the "fares" were not proved. Evidence was given and the coolies admitted that ten cents had been paid for each vehicle.

THE BIRTH OF A NATION.

BIG SPECTACLE AT THE CORONET.

The "Birth of a Nation," which was the first of D. W. Griffith's big productions, comes to the Coronet today for its first showing in Hongkong.

The picture has by this time become so famous that little information is needed by the general public. It is one of those entertainments that everybody will go to see, without needing persuasion.

The period is that of America between 1860 and 1870, and the cast includes Lillian Gish and Henry B. Walthall, in the parts that made their reputation when the film was first produced some years ago.

"The Birth of a Nation" is said to be the only picture made in the comparatively early days of the modern film, that compares with the present day production.

Gloria Swanson.

In a darkened room in a New York City hotel Gloria Swanson, screen star, is cut off from the light of day by two cold and clammy cabbage leaves. On top of the cabbage leaves repose three slices of bacon. Superimposed on the bacon is an ice-pick. For Gloria Swanson has Klieg eyes, a malignant, painful illumination resulting from the brilliant lights used in the moving picture studio sets. "If I only had a bunch of carrots and a string of onions to hang around my neck I'd be a complete New England boiled dinner," she declared. She will be confined for some time.

Crefeld Rioting.

The civil strife in the Rhineland section of Germany has taken on the appearance of a carefully prepared plan of battle between the loyal followers of the German Reich and the Separatists, who would quit Germany and set up an Independent State. Desperate fighting has put down the Separatist movement for the time being. Separatists are shown here barricaded before the Town Hall at Crefeld, from which they were driven, with loss of life.

Hershey Mansion.

The mansion pictured here is the palatial home of Milton S. Hershey, "Chocolate King," of Hershey, Pa. Mr. Hershey has given his entire personal fortune of $50,000,000 to the Orphans' Industrial School he founded near his home. After Mr. Hershey's death the mansion, too, will form part of the school.

Crefeld Rioting.

This photograph, taken at the imminent peril of the photographer's life, was snapped when police opened fire on the Separatists who had attacked the Crefeld Town Hall in their effort to overthrow the forces of the Reich and set up a new State in the Palatinate. Two men are shown down, wounded. Life apparently means little to these desperate Germans, for they seem to be laughing at their own danger.

Herr Richler.

Herr Richler, President of the Berlin Police Force, is said to be the hardest-worked man in Germany. His clever handling of the difficult situations that have arisen lately have won him great praise.

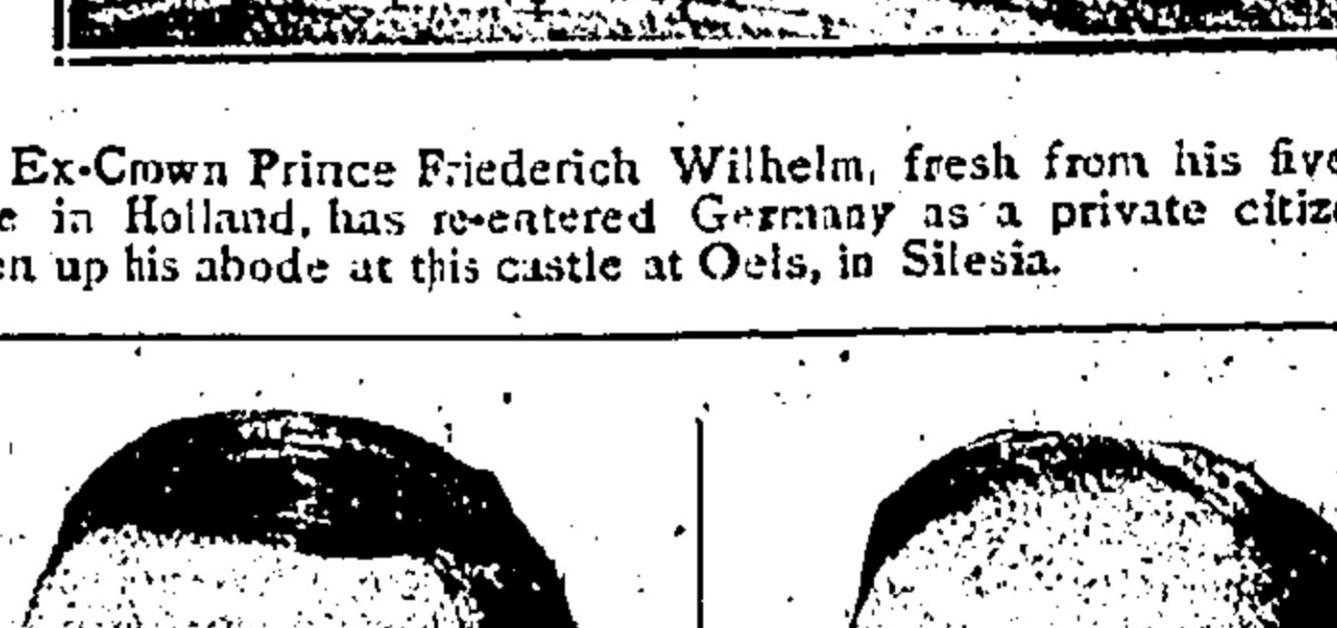

Billy Tichenor.

"Billy" Tichenor, a professional dancer, 19 years old, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church appeared before the Board of Bishops of the Church, consisting of representatives from all over the world, in session in Brooklyn, N. Y., and made a plea for the lifting of the禁制 ban. This ban also includes thestregoing, card playing and picture shows. The Bishops promised to place the plea before the General Conference of the Church, which meets in May, 1924, at Springfield, Mass.

General Gerhard von Kaniß.

General Count Gerhard von Kaniß is the new German Minister of Food and Agriculture, and as such he faces an almost impossible task in trying to feed the German people.

Ex-Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, fresh from his five years' exile in Holland, has re-entered Germany as a private citizen and taken up his abode at this castle at Oels, in Silesia.

Joseph L. Smith.

Joseph Linden Smith, Boston artist, was making copies of the painting on the wall of the tomb of Rameses II, in the Valley of the Kings, Egypt, for the Boston Art Museum, when the ceiling collapsed. A huge boulder, weighing a ton, grazed Smith's head and crashed at his feet. The tomb has been closed for repairs.

Bonar Law Funeral.

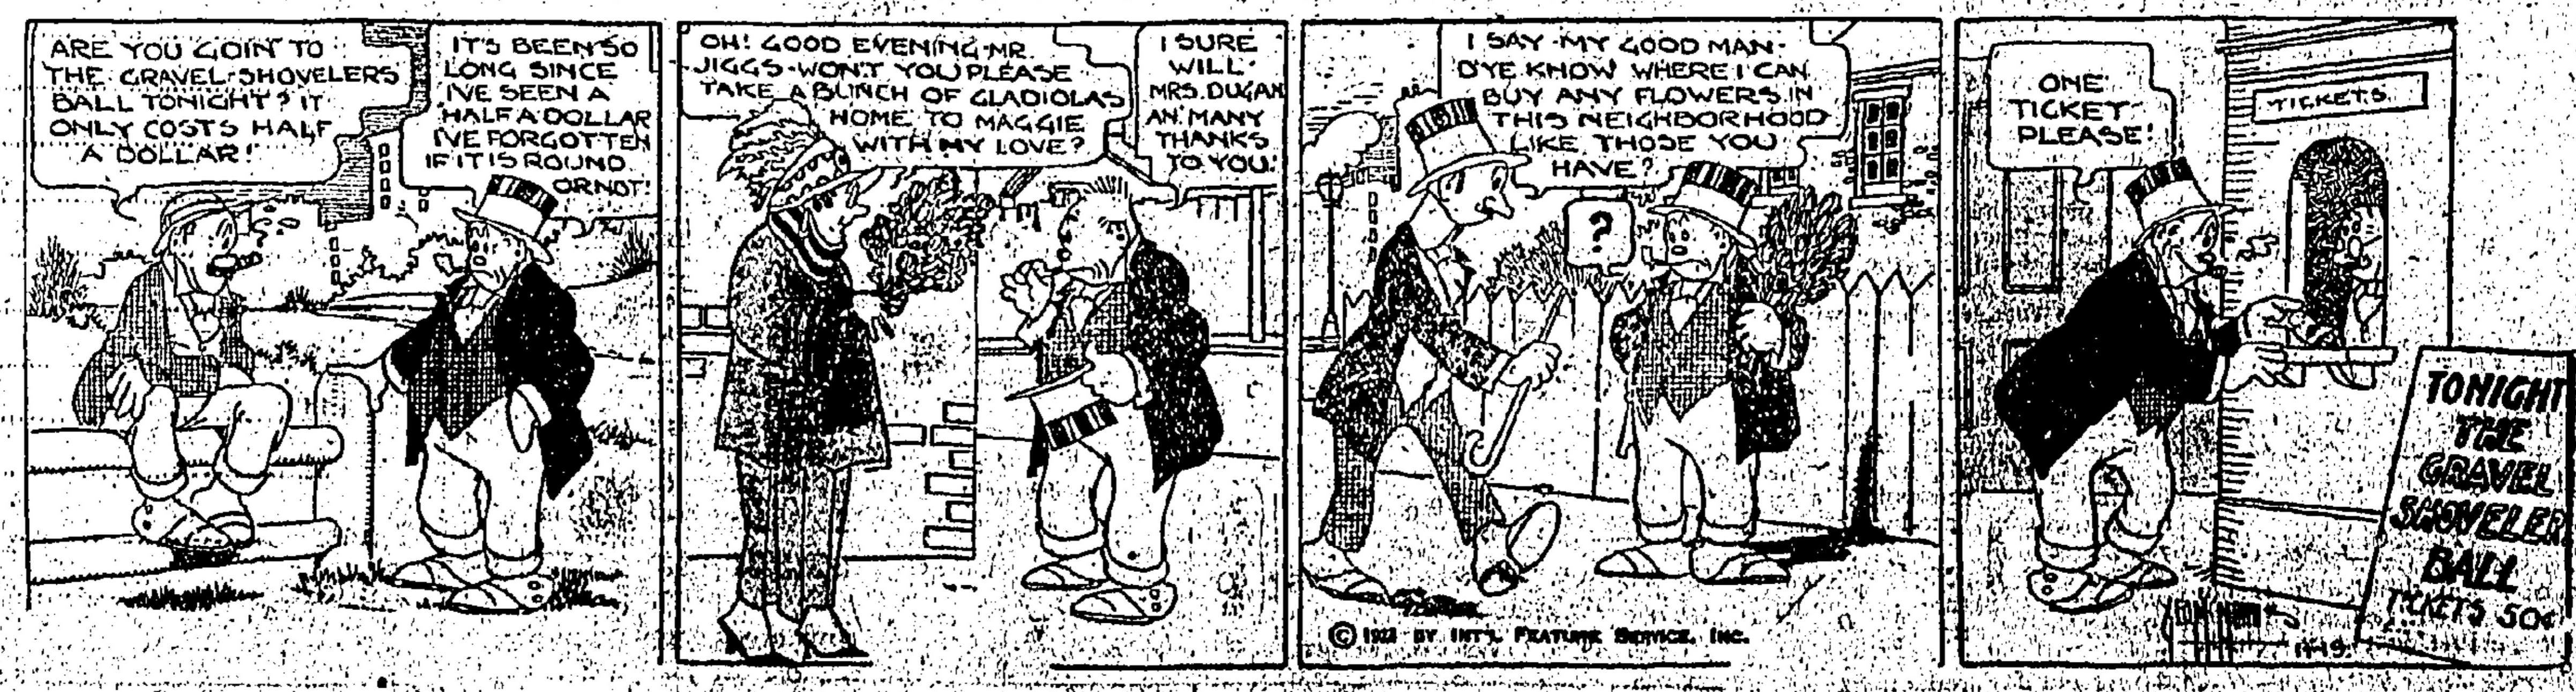

The funeral cortège of the former British Prime Minister, Andrew Bonar Law, is shown proceeding slowly along Victoria street, London, on the way to Westminster Abbey, where the ashes of the great statesman were laid to rest near the bier of the Unknown Soldier. The Prince of Wales may be seen directly behind the flag-covered coffin, while to the left is Herbert H. Asquith, former Prime Minister, and to the right is Lord Balfour.

SEPARATIST PREMIER ASSASSINATED.

Paris, January 9.
Herr Heintz, president of the Separatist Government in the Bavarian Palatinate, was assassinated yesterday while dining at a restaurant at Speyer.

LONDON, January 9.

An eye-witness of the assassination of Herr Heintz, in the dining hall of the chief hotel at Speyer in the presence of thirty guests, says: "A number of shots suddenly rang out. Three persons who were sitting at a table just opposite me fell to the ground, shot through the head. There was a cry. Stand against the wall, hands up!" The crowded room was thrown into consternation. A wail burst out crying as several more shots were fired. Three or four young men rushed from the room threatening to shoot anyone leaving within a quarter of an hour, adding: "We are only attacking Separatists."

The lights had been extinguished and when they were turned on three men lay in pools of blood. Heintz and another died in a few moments.

It is stated that only Heintz belonged to the Separatist Government. The others sat at his table by chance.

Troops and police soon arrived, but no arrests have been made up to the present.

Three other wounded men were found outside the hotel.

The assassination of Herr Heintz was presumably by Nationalists, and draws fresh attention to the Separatists' doings in the Palatinate, which are the subject of serious preoccupation in British official circles.

The Separatist flag still flies on many town halls in other parts of occupied Germany, but apparently it is only in the Palatinate that anything like a serious central Separatist administration has been established under the title "Government of the Autonomous Palatinate."

While the Separatists are the de facto governing authority in every Palatinate town, it is reported that the action of the Rhineland High Commission in accepting orders issued by the Separatist Palatinate administration is interpreted as practically official recognition.

It is stated that British demarches have now led to the decision to institute an inquiry on the spot by delegates of the Inter-Allied Commission.

As a result of British representations on the subject of the Separatist movement, it is announced that an inquiry will be made on the spot by the Rhineland High Commission.

LATER.—

In connection with the shooting of Heintz, there were collisions last night between the Separatists and the populace, which resulted in five persons being killed.

CHINESE INDUSTRIAL MISSION.

London, January 9.
Mr. Chou Hsin-chu, presiding at a dinner at the Chinese Legation in London of members of the Industrial Mission, said he hoped the visit of the mission would advance Anglo-Chinese trade and co-operation. He looked forward to seeing a similar mission from Great Britain visiting China.

The guests included representatives of the Department of Overseas Trade, London Chamber of Commerce and leading industrial firms.

LONDON, January 9.

Mr. John Jordan said that Anglo-Chinese history was one of the finest in the world for honesty. He had great hopes for China. It was necessary to stabilise the situation, but the economic position would influence the political situation.

The High Commissioner expressed gratitude to Great Britain, and said he hoped for everlasting Anglo-Chinese friendship.

Sir William Clark said that the Department of Overseas Trade was glad to co-operate with the Mission.

Sir John Jordan said that Anglo-Chinese history was one of the finest in the world for honesty. He had great hopes for China. It was necessary to stabilise the situation, but the economic position would influence the political situation.

The chief item of the Mission's programme to-day was an important conference with the Comptroller-General, Sir William H. Clark, at the Department of Overseas Trade.

The morning was spent in inspecting road making and factories. Afterwards a private lunch was given by the British Industrial Federation.

BRADFORD MILL COLLAPSE.

LONDON, January 9.

Over thirty employees of the Zetland Spinning Mills at Bradford, were buried this morning by the collapse of the roof of the building, which brought down a lot of heavy machinery from the top floor to the workers beneath. Up to the present twenty have been extricated, more or less severely injured. Twelve are believed to be still buried, of whom six answered their names, showing that they were still alive.

BOARD OF TRADE FIGURES.

LONDON, January 9.

Board of Trade figures show, imports during 1923 £1,095,000,000, compared with £1,003,000,000 in 1922; exports £767,000,000, compared with £719,000,000; re-exports £118,000,000, compared with £103,000,000.

Allowing for the changed basis, due to the fact that South Ireland in April became a Free State, the Board of Trade estimates of imports in 1923 actually increased by £25,000,000; exports £20,000,000; and re-exports £6,000,000.
